415.425.1723 | colleenh@law.stanford.edu

Colleen Honigsberg is a professor of law at Stanford Law School, where she teaches courses in accounting, corporate governance, and business law. Professor Honigsberg's research focuses on the empirical study of corporate and securities law, as well as topics related to accounting and environmental, social, and governance (ESG).

Professor Honigsberg is an Associate Editor of Management Science and has published articles in peer-reviewed academic journals, including the Journal of Financial Economics, the Journal of Accounting Research, the Review of Accounting Studies, Nature, and Artificial Intelligence, Ethics, and Society. In addition, her work has appeared in legal journals such as the Stanford Law Review and Vanderbilt Law Review, among others. Mainstream publications as the Economist, the Wall Street Journal, and the New York Times have cited her research.

Professor Honigsberg serves on the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Investor Advisory Committee, which focuses on supporting the Commission's regulatory priorities in U.S. securities markets. She previously served as a senior economic research fellow with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB). A former certified public accountant (CPA), Professor Honigsberg worked at PricewaterhouseCoopers Advisory Services earlier in her career.
