

Thibault Schrepel, Assistant
Professor, Utrecht University
School of Law

Curator, European Union

Dr. Thibault Schrepel is a Faculty Affiliate at Stanford University's CodeX Center, and an Assistant Professor at Utrecht University School of Law. He also holds research and teaching positions at the University Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and Sciences Po Paris, as well as a Ph.D. in digital antitrust law. He is a Harvard University Berkman Center alumnus.

These last couple of years, Thibault has been focusing most of his research on blockchain antitrust (see here). He has written the world's most downloaded antitrust articles of 2018, "The Blockchain Antitrust Paradox," and 2019, "Collusion by Blockchain and Smart Contracts." In July 2020, he ranked 17th on SSRN in the category "Law." Last but not least, Thibault is passionate about nineties rock music, free jazz, Seinfeld, and B movies.

Thibault will be curating for the European Union